

Roots and Buttresses

Michael E. Stone

Around Morton Bay figs' great grey flaps of trunk-root, elephantine,
ridged and rutted buttresses.
a skirt of hanging roots grows down the trunks.

Skirt edges scavenger air and beneath a regal roof of green shiny foliage, showers of fruit
that bats love.