

Carillion

Michael E. Stone

An empty vessel
sounds, resounds
makes noise of nothing.

No noise either
when olive oil
viscous yellow
slides from the jug.

Be still, sit, listen
to the sap rising
to new bark greening
to the flowers chiming
a carillion to the sun.